C. OF C. FIGHTS OHIO OLD AGE PENSION BOOST

Increase Called Most Serious Threat to Treasury Since Bigelow Proposal

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O June 19—The Ohio senate today passed a house approved $1 800 000 poor relief bill and completed passage of an act to release to the aid of dependent children s program $800 000 U S funds now frozen in the state treasury The vote was 29 0

The bill was sent back to the house for concurrence in a senate amendment which restored to the measure authority for the state auditor to make pre audits of local relief accounts

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O June 19—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce today voiced opposition to increasing old age pension maximum allotments to $40 a month on ground that Gov Bricker s proposal constitutes the most serious threat to the solvency of the Ohio treasury since the Bigelow pension plan was voted down

The Chambers opposition was expressed before the house welfare committee considering the increase as part of Governor Brickers program for the special legislative session

Moving with amazing speed the legislature pushed the $1 800 000 poor relief bill toward enactment today and sought to wind up the three day old special session by tomorrow night

Senate Bills in House

Meanwhile the house took up three measures already passed by the senate They were

Separating the presidential and vice presidential candidates from the state ticket on the November ballot

Appropriating $2 000 000 (half of it federal funds) to finance the addition of at least 14 500 persons to the old age pension rolls subject to committee action this morning and

Authorizing local governments to refund poor relief deficits incurred before Jan 1 1940

Two other bills were ready for initial hearings before house committees

One increasing the maximum old age pension award from $30 a month to $40 was reported to have encountered considerable opposition from business and industrial interests

The other increases from $400 a year to $480 the maximum award for blind persons

Caucus Binds G O P

The Republican majority in the senate was bound by caucus to support the relief bill as approved by the house It carries $1 480 000 in grants to local governments supplementing the state s contribution for the last half of 1939 and an additional $331,333 to be made available in emergency loans

The house Democratic leadership was defeated in an effort to add $1 202,605 to the bill The vote was 41 for 85 against

Rep Chester K Gillespie, Cleveland Negro Republican opposed an increase with the statement that any extra funds should be used to "buy bullets instead of bread" for the national defense program

Negotiators To Meet With General Franco in Madrid

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

MADRID, June 19—Spanish dispatches from Bordeaux said today that Henry Berenger, former ambassador to the United States and chairman of the French senate's foreign affairs committee, had been named head of a commission to negotiate peace with Germany.

(The French cabinet announced it had named plenipotentiaries to receive the German-Italian peace terms as demanded by Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, but did not disclose their names.)

By The Associated Press

A picture of France in bondage—stripped of her gold, factories and raw materials with German Italian armies camped on her soil—was given today in unconfirmed reports of the axis peace terms dictated by Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini

Authorized Nazis in Berlin emphasized that the German Italian price for an armistice are not open to negotiation They must be accepted or rejected as they stand.

Say Complete Surrender Demanded

The official Italian news agency said Hitler demanded capitulation pure and simple'—apparently meaning unconditional surrender

While the details remained secret, Bordeaux reported that French and German negotiators would meet at Madrid at the residence of Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain

The French radio said Germany notified France today that she would disclose her peace terms only to a special plenipotentiary President Albert Lebrun immediately appointed an envoy to meet the axis negotiators

Fascists in Rome warned that French rejection of the Munich terms would unleash a swift "final assault" by the combined German Italian armies — now nearing a junction near the south Swiss border—to crush France to the ground

British Forces Withdrawn

The British expeditionary force has now been withdrawn from France London reported, and will devote itself to the 'one task' of home defense About 1,250,000 soldiers are under arms to guard against the imminently-expected Nazi invasion

Reports from Berlin said German troops, driving past France's great trans-Atlantic port of Cherbourg, had now reached within 32 miles of Brest

Other Nazi columns, the reports said captured Nancy, rich French manufacturing city and former capital of Lorraine province, which lies south of Metz, and thrust a spearhead toward Lyon The latter is almost directly opposite the Italian Swiss border and would afford a nearby junction for Italian and German armies

Say No Gains Made

The French high command however, insisted that despite fierce new attacks in all sectors the Germans had made no important new advances during the night.

Berlin asserted that half of France is now in German hands with the invading armies rapidly fanning out to the south

Pope Pius XII appealed to Italians to be generous and spoke sorrowfully of "forces of error and deception"

At the same time, the Fascist Editor Virginio Gayda, often called Mussolini's mouthpiece declared Italy can see no reason to show pity for France in the present case

Diplomatic circles in Madrid held that the French already have accepted the axis of peace terms involving unconditional capitulation occupation of France until the war is over and surrender of the French fleet.

This was apparently premature, however, since reports from Bordeaux said the French Premier

President Approves Huge Naval Expansion Program

Statement Follows White House Announcement of Plan for Compulsory Training

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 19—Chairman Vinson Democrat of Georgia said today that the $4-00 000 000 naval expansion bill was "made" by the house naval committee yesterday has President Roosevelt s approval

I am authorized to state Vinson said that the bill we approved yesterday is in accordance with the financial program of the President

The measure would merely authorize the expansion It would not appropriate funds although Admiral Harold R Stark chief of naval operations has recommended the huge naval program and said that if congress approved it he would ask this session for $1 75 000 000 to start construction

The question of compulsory naval service for American youth —now being fiddled by President Roosevelt — soon may be put squarely up to congress where a mixed reception was indicated today

The Chief Executive discussed universal training during his press conference yesterday saying that he might communicate with congress on the subject within the next three or six weeks

An administration lieutenant Senator Byrnes (D SC) followed up with the statement that he understood the war department already had worked out plans for such a program

Other Angles Studied

As argument developed over this defense issue several aspects of the preparedness program bid for attention on Capitol Hill

1 Informed sources predicted a substantial additional request for funds for the army

2 Passage of the navy surprise $4 000 000 000 fleet expansion plan was unanimously recommended to the house by its naval committee

3 A senate committee took steps to provide money to start the Ford Motor company on the mass production of airplane engines on government order

4 Legislation to empower the President to send Red Cross merchant ships into the war zone was temporarily blocked by Senator Holt (D-WVa) who accused the administration of stirring up hysteria and said the ships might provide an incident which would lead the country to war

The house passed the senate joint resolution which puts the United States on record as opposing the transfer of European possessions in the western hemisphere to any non American power

Outlines Program

President Roosevelt in outlining the compulsory training program he has under consideration said he contemplated eventually a permanent service for all of the nation s young men and perhaps its

BRITAIN SET FOR GRIM TASK

Raid of 100 German Planes Feared Beginning of Hitler's Promised Blood Bath.

By The Associated Press

LONDON June 19—Amid reports that Germany had decided on her total war on total capitulation as the price of peace for France the British set themselves grimly today for the battle of England which finally may be in its opening stages

The British expeditionary force it was announced today has been withdrawn from France to bolster the defense of an island kingdom not invaded since 1066

The overture at least of the battle of England many have been aerial bombardments which the German and British air forces have traded within the past 48 hours

100 Planes in Raid

About 100 German planes slashed at British coastal airports in the night—retaliation for widespread attacks the night before on cities in western and northern Germany Seven of the German raiders were shot down and when the assault was finished the British counted 12 civilian dead and 13 injured

(A German report on Allied raids in Germany said 18 persons were killed in attacks on "non-military objectives")

British forces were returning from France

Whether these were included in Prime Minister Churchill's resume of British defense strength was not known Churchill said that soldiers under arms here number 1,250,000, not counting emergency defense organizations.

Military circles said that the withdrawn B E F would devote itself now to "one task"—home defense, battle-trained on the abandoned fields of France and still holding "large quantities" of guns and stores brought back with it.

Reports of German terms for France contained the worst of implications for the British—that Adolf Hitler would demand surrender of the French fleet which the British hoped to add to their own.

U S Advises Rome and Berlin Transfer of Lands in West Will Be Opposed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 19 — The state department has instructed representatives in Berlin and Rome to notify the German and Italian governments of United States opposition to transfer of western hemisphere possessions from one non American power to another

Britain France and the exiled Netherlands government the nations having possessions in this hemisphere similarly were notified

The instructions which went to Berlin and were disclosed today constituted a warning to all powers that United States stood pat on the Monroe doctrine and thus would countenance any European interference with ownership of lands in the new world

The governments views as to European capitals were [illegible] which those in a joint resolution pending in congress [illegible] resolution now in the senate ratification of minor house bills declares that the United States would not recognize any transfer and would not accept any attempt to transfer a region of the western hemisphere from one non American power to another

Such an attempt to transfer would appear likely the resolution declares the United States would consult with the other American republics to determine what steps to take to safeguard common interests

The call for peace has raised the present question of the European possessions in this hemisphere

Berlin June 19 — A source reliable said today that United States government, the Monroe doctrine and Italy that it would not enhance any German or European interference with French British possessions in the western hemisphere

The informant said he understood that an American note to the Italian government quoted passages from President Monroe s famous message which proclaimed the famous doctrine particularly that opposing any extension of political systems of foreign powers to the American hemisphere

It was said that a statement of the American position was delivered by Ambassador William Phillips to the Italian authorities [illegible]

Training Program Raises New Worry for Republicans

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA June 19 — President Roosevelt s proposal for compulsory national service presented a new problem today for the Republican resolution committee already endeavoring to write a platform plank expressing the party s viewpoint on foreign relations

This and a speech in which John L Lewis of the CIO spoke praisingly and perhaps significantly of Herbert Hoover provided the vanguard of next weeks national convention with an abundance of discussion

Glenn Frank chairman of the committee which wrote a party program last winter said Mr Roosevelt s suggestion conformed to the trend of New Deal philosophy

The heart of the New Deal he said is in an approach to a conscripted life

Ingalls Pointed Question

David Ingalls campaign manager for Senator Taft of Ohio, bluntly asked Which totalitarian model has he in mind Russian or German"

Alf M Landon the 1936 nominee who was appointed chairman of the subcommittee on national defense and foreign affairs late yesterday said the President was using weasel words and added that he wanted to see more

PROTESTS NAVY SALE OF BOATS TO BRITAIN

U. S Releases Claim to Score of Sub Chasers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 19—Chairman Walsh Democrat of Massachusetts of the senate naval committee said today that release by the navy of a score or more torpedo and submarine chasing motor boats to the British was "a grievous wrong especially to the American youth who may be called upon to fight for the defense of our country"

The navy had reported that it had cleared the way for the Electric Boat Company of Groton Conn. to sell the craft, originally ordered for the United States fleet

"If war should come in the next few months," Walsh said, "and an enemy submarine approaches our harbors, no one can estimate the consequence that may follow as a result of this disposal of these vessels."

The navy department changed its contract with the boat company, officials reported, to provide for a delay in delivery of 20 vessels ordered by the navy.

TWENTY COAL CARS PILED UP

Damage in C. & O Derailment at Prospect Placed at More Than $25,000.

Twenty C & O freight cars loaded with coal piled up at Prospect at 11 o'clock last night tearing up 1 000 feet of track and causing damage expected to range between $25 000 and $35 000

The train was about 100 yards north of the railroad station in Prospect when a section of cars located midway in a train of 150 cars were derailed Twenty-four cars left the rails but four of them were not piled up or damaged

The derailed section buckled jamming cars sidewise across the right of way twisting steel cars and rails into weird patterns and spreading hundreds of tons of coal over the wreckage

No Casualties

C M Ryde C & O trainmaster at Columbus a former Marion man, said no one was injured

Wrecking crews from Toledo and Columbus today were clearing the tracks and replacing damaged rails Mr Ryder said service was restored today over one of the two parallel sets of C & O tracks Meanwhile, C & O trains were rerouted over the Pennsylvania railroad

E L Bock of Huntington, W Va general superintendent and assistants came to the scene in a special car and helped direct repair work

C & O officials said a broken axle was believed to have caused derailment of one car, causing the others to pile up

Engineer Morgan Fireman Wilson and Conductor Jackson all of Columbus were in charge of the train

The train was carrying coal from West Virginia fields to Toledo

Hundreds of Prospect residents heard the sound of the crash and many persons gathered at the scene

Most of the damage to tracks was confined to the ones on which the train was traveling, but debris was strewn over the parallel tracks, shutting off C & O service between Marion and Columbus

Only four of the derailed cars escaped damage Some were twisted and torn beyond repair, others badly bent and torn loose from the undercarriage

RAILS ANCHOR UNEASY STOCKS

Provide Steadying Influence in Otherwise Unstable Trading Session.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 19 — Rails gave anchorage to an unsteady market today while war stocks varied with traders' hopes and fears concerning the outcome of France's capitulation.

Pending announcement of peace terms, operators carried on only "testing" operations, causing movements of only fractions.

Holding firm or moving a bit ahead were such leaders as Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern preferred, Southern Railway, Republic, Youngstown, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Caterpillar, Boeing, Westinghouse, American Telephone and Loft. Backward were Standard Oil of New Jersey, Eastman, American Can and United Aircraft.

Commodities and bonds were irregular. Italian liras dropped sharply. Scrap copper was reduced ¼ cent a pound.

Market sources said Great Britain was inquiring for American canned food to replace canned imports from Italy.

EARLY WHEAT LOSS TURNED INTO GAINS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 19—After declining as much as 1¾ cents, wheat prices rallied today, wiping out all of the early loss and substituting net gains of almost a cent.

Some of the buying on the recovery was attributed to mills and to dealers who acted on indications of a relatively slight movement of new wheat in the southwest. Marketing of the new crop is running behind that of last year, traders said, not only because of the later harvest but also because the bulk of the crop apparently is going into storage. Prices are below government loan rates.

Wheat closed ¼-¾ cent higher than yesterday, July 78½-¾, September 78⅝; corn ⅜-⅝ higher, July 62, September 60¼; oats ¼ higher.

Marion CCC Camp Expected To Be Ready for Occupancy by July 1

Five Large Barracks and Other Buildings Completed To House Camp of 200 Youths.

Construction work at the site for the civilian conservation corps on the Marion County Home farm is progressing rapidly and the camp will be ready for occupancy July 1, officials reported today.

Nearly a score of buildings have been erected since the work got under way May 15. Among them are five huge barracks, 20 feet by 120 feet, to provide living quarters for the 200 CCC enrollees to be stationed here next month.

Other structures include living and office quarters for army officials who will be in charge of the camp, and for members of the technical staff who will outline and plan the work program. Buildings for recreation, mess hall, laundry, showers, educational, hall and garages for storage and maintenance of equipment also have been erected.

Water Tower Built

A 20-foot steel tower has been built at a central location on the grounds as part of the camp's water supply system. A 5,000-gallon tank has been erected atop the tower and the camp will have its own supply system through wells drilled shortly after the site was chosen.

At present the work is being done by a staff of 30 carpenters, plumbers and electricians, hired in Marion and nearby. They are being aided by 169 CCC enrollees, 65 of whom were detailed here from the Athens camp. The remaining 44 were sent here last week from the London camp and will remain permanently since their camp will be transferred here when the local unit is ready for operation.

Work Yet To Be Done

Still to be completed before the camp is ready for occupancy is the construction of drainage and sanitation facilities.

Present work is being done under the direction of Lieutenants D. D. Dodd, John Vacca and Reno Price.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. LOGAN C. CLENDENING

A.B.T.—What effect have epsom salts on the body in a bath?

Answer—Practically none. They are sometimes advised because they are thought to reduce weight but this is not true. Of course, if the bath is hot enough it removes fluid from the body, but if so it is unsafe. Epsom salts in a concentrated solution, saturated on a cloth, are valuable in the relief of pain locally but externally there is no other use.

E.G.—"Let me know if there is any harm in living with for a long time."

Answer—"Yes. It really produces a chronic mental poisoning with deposit in the [illegible] and degeneration of the blood. It should not be taken except on the advice of a physician.

M.M.—"Members of my family will not eat potatoes nor macaroni and very little sugar on their cereal and in coffee; nor white bread. I have tried to make them eat what I consider a well balanced diet."

Answer—"If people are healthy and happy do not try to influence their diet. Starches and sugars and macaroni are simply concentrated, processed carbohydrates that your family will get in vegetables, fruits, cereals, and probably be better off.

I.S.—"Please advise what is the best time of the year to have a child's tonsils taken out?"

Answer—There is no time any better than any other. The best time is when you are certain the tonsils are doing harm. In other words, the best time of year to take the tonsils out is when the tonsils need to be taken out. Of course, usually August and September are the busy times of year for the tonsil doctor because parents feel that it benefits children to have their tonsils out before going to school.

N.G.L.—"Please tell me if there is quinine in [illegible]"

Answer—not to the best of my knowledge and belief. The bitterness comes from a special vegetable acid.

F.D.—"I have heard of the treatment of duodenal ulcer with a series of shots. How successful is this treatment?"

Answer—I presume by "shots" you mean hypodermic injections. The use of injections of non-specific proteins was introduced several years ago but I believe has largely gone out of fashion, and of course the reason it has gone out of fashion is that it was not as successful as the treatment by diet ad neutralization with soda or aluminum hydroxide.

German Prison Camps Taxed by Captured Allies

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Berlin Correspondent

BERLIN June 19—The flood of hundreds of thousands of Allied prisoners captured on the western front has taxed the facilities of German prison camps to the extent that even old castles have been taken over to house them

Jefferson Patterson first secretary of the United States embassy who has been looking after the prisoners interests said that prior to the German sweep into the low countries there was a dribble of French and English prisoners increased for a time by larger streams of Norwegians

Then the conquests of the Netherlands and Belgium and the defeat of the Allied armies in Flanders threw a staggering burden on the German system of caring for prisoners, he said

They have been housed in schools barracks of various sorts serfs and castles of ancient knights provided by barbed wire Among these is the castle of August the Strong of Saxony who at the end of the seventh century ruled Poland

Patterson said there had been complaints here and there principally about food but the Germans replied that the rations given prisoners were exactly the same as those issued the bulk of the nation in calories and grain

The Nazi attitude has been that the Allies could modify their blockade if they wanted prisoners get better food

Patterson asserted he had received no complaints of Germans laying prisoners have been given extra rations since

Running around a blockade of slower-moving automobiles, the driver of the sedan marked by "X" speeds onto the wrong side of the street, risking head-on collision with a car.

Swerving back to the right after narrowly avoiding a crash, he again breaks the law by attempting to turn right in front of a solid line of machines.

This happened when another regulation—the "law of gravity"—refused to be broken.—Washington Star Staff Photos, with co-operation of the American Automobile Association.

"Don't be in such a hurry that you become a reckless driver"

"Records on file show an appalling number of arrests for reckless driving. These arrests are being made because the thoughtless reckless driver is one of the greatest menaces to foot and automobile traffic. Watch your driving—take a little more time—you'll get there just as quickly—and best of all you'll get there safely. No injury to yourself or any one else. Be particularly careful these summer days. Children will be playing ball, riding bicycles. You will see children playing many places where they should not be. But remember they are still children—their protection is your responsibility."

Olga Explains Why She Will Pay for Her Own Trousseau

OLGA, exiled queen of Transvania, lifted her head with a truly regal gesture as I told her that she need not repay the loan for which the bird used me, for years on end.

"Please!" she said. "I could not take the money under those conditions. When I am once Phil's wife, I shall have ample funds at my disposal, for in his princely fashion he is insisting upon settling a really royal amount upon me."

She looked at me a bit quizzically, while a whimsical smile curved the corners of her lips.

"I suppose to your American ideas, you do not see the difference between Tweedle dee dee and Tweedle dee dum," she said. "I understand you do not have settlements over here."

"Not usually," I told her, smiling.

"But with me it is so familiar a thing that while I could not listen for a moment to Phil's suggestion that he buy my wedding trousseau, I see no incongruity whatever in repaying you after my marriage from the settlement which Phil is making upon me and the use of which he will never question, nor know any of its details."

A Good American Word

"Dear Olga!" I said, putting my hand over hers, "do not bother your head another second over my possible reaction to your tenets. Pay me whenever you choose. All I ask now is that you permit me to advance you enough money so that you will not feel 'skimped'—a good old American word."

"I love it," she returned, laughing, and patently at her ease again. "And now," she went on, pushing back her chair and rising, "I must not keep you another second. I know how very busy you are, and I will go directly to my room and make out that list. But there is no hurry about your seeing it. When you are ready for it, let me know."

"I am busy," I admitted truthfully, "but never too busy to see you. I can look over the list at any time after tonight."

"It will be ready for you," she said. "And thanks now again, my dear—for everything."

Her hand brushed my shoulder with a caressing gesture, and then she was gone, and I hurried out of the library and up the stairs to Lillian's room.

SEEK TO STRENGTHEN LATIN AMERICAN TIES

Roosevelt Hunts Way To Remove Trouble Spots.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 19 — Intensified efforts to remove such trouble spots as debt defaults and expropriation cases, it was learned today may be the first step in the Roosevelt administration's program to tighten economic relations with Latin America.

Settlement of these controversies regarded by some White House advisers as indispensable to a broad plan for hemisphere economic cooperation in the face of increasing Nazi control over European commerce.

A highly-placed source said that President Roosevelt probably would announce his detailed intentions in a week.

Latin American nations are in default on about $1,000,000,000 of bonds owned by United States investors. Most of these securities pay about 6 per cent interest, and the United States treasury reportedly advised in the case of Colombia that compromises at 3 per cent be sought.

Mexican expropriation of American oil properties moved a step nearer to settlement recently when a large American concern accepted a Mexican compensation offer.

There is discussion of setting up a corporation to spend $500,000,000 each year to buy up those goods which Latin American would normally sell Europe, and then reselling them in Europe for whatever terms are possible.

Man Ordered To Leave City After Forty-First Arrest

His latest brush with the law, which authorities said was the forty-first since 1934, had a different ending yesterday for Dave Williams, about 50, no address. Arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, he pleaded for his release to go to the Soldiers' home at Sandusky.

Municipal Judge Hazen granted the request on the condition that Williams leave the city before midnight today. The judge warned Williams to expect the maximum penalty if he is brought into court here within the next 30 days.

He had been arrested for allegedly causing a disturbance at a West Side restaurant Monday night. Police took him into custody 12 hours and 37 minutes after he had been released from county jail where he had served a term for drunkeness and resisting an officer.

mit) retorted that a shortage of food would stimulate a "fifth column" growth among the needy.

Passage of the ballot-separation bill in the senate, 27 to 5, found both Democrats and Republicans approving the principle of the Massachusetts form of ballot, although a proposed amendment to adopt it was rejected.

Ballots Differ

Whereas the bill would separate only the national and state tickets, the Massachusetts ballot groups candidates by office instead of by politics.

Sen. Maurice W. Lipscher (D-Mahoning), tried unsuccessfully to have the senate add another million dollars to the old age pension appropriation. Republicans demanded to know why he did not propose the increase two years ago during the Democratic administration.

Thirty-two interim appointments, made by Governor Bricker after the legislature adjourned a year ago, were confirmed by the senate. They included Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director.

POPE ASKS ITALIANS FOR GENEROSITY TO FOE

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, June 19 — Pope Pius, addressing an audience of pilgrims today, appealed to the Italians to be generous.

The Pontiff asked his hearers to pray for their country, "asking that its sons be generous in serving Him."

He also requested them to pray for the church "which weeps for so many of its sons who are no more and for many of its destroyed temples, its priests prevented from carrying out their ministry, and for innumerable poor souls straying among the ruins of their destroyed folds or in exile, while forces of error and deception are seeking to push them further from their divine pastor."

ROME, June 19 — Italy can see "no reason to show pity for France in the present case," the Fascist Editor Virginia Gayda, who frequently speaks for Premier Mussolini, wrote today in Il Giornale D'Italia.

Gayda said he was answering "sentimental appeals" of American and Swiss newspapers for consideration for France.

COLUMBUS CHARTER PLAN GIVEN SMASHING DEFEAT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 19—City council arranged a special meeting tonight to consider a variety of "nuisance taxes" following yesterday's crushing defeat at the polls of a proposed charter amendment to permit an increase in real estate taxes.

Mayor Floyd F. Green recommended the suggested 4.36 mills boost in real estate levies as "the best way" to raise $1,587,000 additional revenue for relief and general operations.

He said "nuisance taxes" were the only alternative and since the revenue would not be forthcoming immediately he would ask city employes to donate their services after July 1. Columbus grocers, now holding $400,000 in unpaid relief orders, have threatened to suspend credit.

The complete unofficial vote on the charter change proposal was 15,644 yes and 35,088 no.

REPORT ATTACK REPULSED

ROME, June 19 — Dispersal of a British armored column which attempted to penetrate Italian lines in East Africa allegedly under cover of the Italian flag was reported today by the Italian high command. The communique said Italian planes sank an enemy submarine and continued attacks on Allied air bases in East Africa, resulting in the burning of three planes.

NAZIS REPORT ADVANCE

NEW YORK, June 19—In a special broadcast picked up at the CBS short-wave listening station at 12:01 p. m. today the German high command announced "Luneville and the fortress of Toul have been taken. The German flag was hoisted on Strasbourg cathedral."

PEACE TERMS

Petain has not even received the Nazi-Fascist terms as yet.

Furthermore, the demand for surrender of the French fleet was believed futile, inasmuch as France's navy has been under British command since the outbreak of war last September and in all likelihood—as admitted in Berlin—had been "spirited off" by the British.

12 Civilians Killed

German bombers killed at least 12 British civilians and injured 13 in widespread raids during the night which may have raised the curtain on the expected "battle for England."

The British announced officially that seven of the estimated 100 invading aircraft were shot down by British fighters and anti-aircraft batteries which were in action all the way from the teeming Thames estuary to the Yorkshire coast.

"No severe damage was done to any military objective" by the Germans, it was announced.

Britain's faltering Allies, the French, fought on in the waning but still deadly battle of France while they waited to hear the peace terms which Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini determined in a secret meeting at Munich.

France's premier, Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, and Generalissimo Maxime Weygand ordered their worn Poilus to fight on, even though the front was cut to shreds and the Germans were racing southward.

The French communique last night admitted that violent enemy action was progressing deep in Normandy and Britanny, with advanced German detachments already in Cherbourg and Rennes.

This drive apparently was aimed at cutting off the two peninsulas of Normandy and Britanny which jut out toward England. If successful, it would envelop the port of Brest, where many American soldiers landed in the World war.

Report Plane Flights

The Spanish government radio reported many planes, presumably French, had been seen flying over the Mediterranean toward Africa.

The European avalanche of war had its forceful effects in the United States. President Roosevelt asserted that the country undoubtedly would come to some form of government service for every boy in the land, though not necessarily military service in the strict sense.

The house naval committee speedily and unanimously recommended authorization of a $4,000,000,000 expansion of the United States fleet, which would permit construction of 200 more warships and give this country the greatest navy of the world.

In Canada, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King called for quick legislative action in passing the government's compulsory service bill conscripting manpower and resources for war duty.

"There is an emergency position of a very grave character," he said.

In the Far East, where the situation of French Indo-China is a preoccupying problem in the wake of France's suit for peace in Europe, the Japanese foreign office announced it considered maintenance of the status quo in Indo-China "equally as important" as in The Netherlands East Indies.

Rumanian Acrobatic Pilot on Air Show Program in Marion Sunday

Capt. Alex Papana of Rumania is shown above in his high-performance stunt plane in which he will perform Sunday at the Marion airshow. The lettering on his plane "PAX," spells out the Latin word for peace. Associates of Capt. Papana report he is subject to recall at any time should his country enter the European war.

One of Europe's most colorful acrobatic pilots, Capt. Alex Papana of the Royal Rumanian Air Force, has been signed to perform in the Marion airshow next Sunday at the Municipal airport, the Aviation Boosters' club and Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today.

Capt. Papana, who recently won the 1940 acrobatic competition in Havana, Cuba, will be billed as the star of the show here, the sponsors reported. He was signed through Hugh Thomasson of Chicago, technical director of the show.

The Rumanian ace will bring with him a powerful Bucker-Jungmeister stunt plane with which he has won three international acrobatic titles.

His feats here will include quadruple snap barrel rolls, outside loops, Cuban Eights, and daring upside-down flying only 10 feet above the ground.

The Jaycee and Boosters club committee met last night at the Triangle Grill to map final plans for the show, paying special attention to handling of traffic and the spectators. It was announced that in order to eliminate congestion at the gates Sunday, tickets are now on sale at several business places at special prices. The show proper will start at 2:30 with preliminary events scheduled for 1 p. m.

Bucyrus Group Hears Ohio C. of C. Officials Speak at Tax Meeting

Business Men Plan To Protest Any Proposals To Increase State Taxes; Committee Named.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, O., June 19—A delegation of Crawford county business men and industrialists was expected to go to Columbus today to register a protest against any increased taxation as a result of a meeting held here last night under auspices of the district council of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce. About 40 Bucyrus men were present.

Speakers at the meeting, which was preceded by a dinner, were Arch Schultz of Columbus, chairman of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and George O'Brien of Columbus, chairman of the district group.

Main discussion was of the old age pension. A proposed increase in pensions was before the legislature today. The speakers pointed out that when the pension was started it was estimated the expenditure would be six million dollars a year, but that the first year the actual cost was seven million. Last year the pension cost the state 34 millions and with the proposed increase from $30 to $40 a month the cost will be 60 millions, according to the speakers.

Cites Farm Income

They quoted figures to show that the income of the average farmer in Ohio is $1,233 a year and said that the farmer making this average would have to pay taxes to help provide pensions for the aged that were nearly as high as his own income.

County expenses were reviewed in which the speakers said the state pays 5.4 cents a gallon for road oil and $0.66 for six-ply tires, while counties pay varying prices for the same type of supplies.

The speakers said road oil is sold to Ashland county at 10 cents a gallon and to Marion county at 14 cents a gallon, and that Darke county pays $15.95 for tires, Marion county $11.04 and Morrow county $14.

Out of every $100 spent in Ohio $20 goes for taxes, according to Mr. Schultz.

Tax Study Urged

The speakers reviewed increased taxation in the last 10 years and urged that every citizen spend at least an hour a week studying taxes and interesting other citizens in the subject.

Frank Hopley of Bucyrus appointed the following committee to carry out the suggestion in Crawford county: Victor Vollrath, chairman, S. E. Auck, John C. Carroll, Walter J. Michael, C. F. Gebhardt, Harry Holles, H. F. Kiras and Mr. Hopley of Bucyrus and George Stiefel and F. R. McBerty of Galion.

Figures Listed for Marion Co. Challenged

Figures quoted by the speakers at the Bucyrus meeting last night were challenged today at the office of the Marion county commissioners. Clerk J. A. Raub said the price of 14 cents a gallon for road oil, cited by the speakers, was incorrect. Mr. Raub reported Marion county has contracted for its 1940 supply of road oil at .0344 cents a gallon, the lowest price in his memory.

The contract for the oil was awarded to the Oil Road Improvement Co. which submitted the lowest bid. The cost of .0344 also includes application of the oil to the road, Mr. Raub said.

Last year the price paid was .0412 cents, just a little over four cents.

He said that during his experience with the commissioners' office the county has paid nothing like 14 cents a gallon.

As for the prices of tires, there is considerable variation depending upon the size of the tire and its quality, he said.

TRAINING

young women—in promoting the national defense.

He divided the types of service into four classifications. There would be those in the fighting forces, he said; those in the auxiliary uniformed forces behind the lines; those engaged in the production of munitions and defense materials, and those whose task it would be to conserve national resources.

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned a year as the length of training that might be required, and said that such a term of disciplined training would be good for the nation's young people, besides helping defense.

Most Democrats in congress gave either flat or conditional indorsement and most Republicans criticized the plan.

Rep. Miller (R-Conn), a World war aviator, said, "the plan seems like complete totalitarianism."

Favors Army Training

Senator Lodge (R-Mass), on the other hand, said he was for going even further and making military training compulsory.

Congressional predictions that defense expenditures—now more than $5,000,000,000—would be swelled further by an additional army appropriation request did not specify the purpose or the exact figures to be asked.

The speculation followed Admiral Harold R. Stark's advocacy yesterday of a new $4,000,000,000 fleet expansion as essential to the nation's defense.

PARIS STARTS LIFE UNDER GERMAN RULE

Daily Activity Returns to Normal After Occupation.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, June 19—(Delayed)—By Courier to Aachen and Telephone to Berlin)—Paris is beginning a new life under German occupation as public services resume operation and some phases of the fallen capital's daily activity return to normal.

Current opinion as expressed publicly now is strongly Right against and bitter against former Premier Paul Reynaud who resigned Sunday as the government prepared to seek a peace and against Edouard Daladier, who was premier when France declared war against Germany.

The two principal organs of opinion allowed to resume publication are the rightist newspaper Le Matin and the semi-Fascist Victoire.

Three German officials who knew Paris before the war are now in important posts of the occupying forces.

They are Capt. Von Grote who was Paris director of DNB, the German news service; Otto Abetz husband of a French woman who was expelled as a Nazi agent by the French June 29, 1939, and Dr. Achenbach, secretary of the German embassy in Paris.

Maybe this was Hitler's answer to British Premier Churchill's defiant speech in which the latter declared England would fight to a finish and would vanquish Nazism. Those words must have rankled hard on the Fuehrer's ears.

Be that as may, the raid was a potent reminder that this last act of the Britannian drama which is about to open is going to be "one to bloody death."

Upon this final conflict depends whether the French and British empires shall be crushed and dismembered. Upon it depends whether Hitler shall profit by the conquests he already has made or whether they shall be wiped out.

Everything up to this juncture has been merely preliminary to the assault on England.

So great are the issues involved that we are likely to see "total warfare" carried to extremes which will exceed the terrors already revealed since Hitler first lashed out at Poland.

Hitler expects to make a quick conquest of England. Indeed that is vital, as I have pointed out before, since his slender resources demand a short war. Most observers believe that he either will defeat Britain within the first few weeks, or he will himself be headed toward disaster.

"Hitler knows he will have to break us in this island or lose the war," Churchill declared.

RESERVE LIST FIXED FOR KENTON GUARD CO.

KENTON, June 19—A National Guard reserve list of 38 was authorized today for Company E so that, in event of mobilization, the unit might have its full peacetime strength available for service. It was explained that the peace-time strength of an infantry company is 114 men and three officers but that only 78 men and three officers are authorized because of lack of funds to pay the additional men or equip them. The reserves will pass physical examinations be given typhoid fever inoculation and scarlet fever vaccinations, and be ready for service in event of mobilization, it was explained. They will not be compelled to attend routine drills or summer training trips of the guard unit, Captain Cecil J. Davis said.

Special to The Star

GALION, June 19—City council Tuesday night approved a request from the trustees of the police relief pens. n board, asking for a supplemental appropriation of $400 for the rest of the year. The request came from the secretary of the pens on board and stated that at a recent meeting the board had approved Charles Fenwick's application for pension and allowed the partial disability of $50 a month, starting May 1, which will be for eight months in 1940, totaling $400.

Councilmen Merrit McElroy, Thomas Mertens, and O. W. Crosenwett were appointed as a committee to investigate the possibility of establishing a municipal court.

The "Addition to the Firemen's Pension Rules" was read, which allows a 90-day sick leave with pay for firemen as passed at the last meeting of the firemen's pension board. Council will meet with the board to reach some agreement in regard to this matter.

exactly what Mr. Roosevelt had in mind.

"It is typical of the New Deal," he said, "that this subject developed at a White House press conference and was not embodied in a message to congress."

The resolutions committee set aside the entire day for open hearings at which the representatives of numerous organizations were allotted speaking time. Among them were Lewis, William Green of the AFL, Noel Sargent of the National Association of Manufacturers, L. J. Taber of the national Grange and Edward O'Neil of the Farm Bureau federation.

Former Sen. George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania was named chairman of the important drafting committee which will act as a clearing house for sub-committee recommendations.

Lewis' speech was delivered here last night before the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Mr. Roosevelt made depression and unemployment a chronic fact in American life," Lewis said. "It was a slogan of the 1932 presidential election that Herbert Hoover was responsible for that depression. A simple matter of justice, let me say here and now that the workers of the United States realize that he had nothing whatever to do with it. It was laid on his doorstep when he came to the White House. It is only the self-seeking politicians that blame Mr. Hoover."

German Powder Making Resources Exceed America's

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 19—Statisticians in the coal industry noted today that nations conquered to date by Germany have potential resources for the manufacture of coal by-product explosives more than 100 per cent greater than those of the United States.

Most explosives are derived in some way from the coal tars, which with other by-products are recovered while coal is being processed into coke.

The statisticians found that coke production thus an index of the explosives available, totalled 64,312,862 metric tons in 1938 in Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Poland, The Netherlands, France, and Germany itself.

The figures were drawn from the annual report of the U. S. bureau of mines.

The United States' total for 1938 was 29,864,281, as compared with approximately 34,000,000 in 1929.

Several factors were cited to explain the drop in coke production here. For one thing officials said, development of natural gas fields have reduced the demand for artificial gas, a major by-product. Another item, they said, has been advanced in technology in steel making, cutting down coke requirements. Also the proportion of scrap steel, which need only be melted down, is increasing.

President Roosevelt Is Right—Only Congress Can Declare War

EVENTS leading up to the tragedy of French surrender have helped Americans to understand their relationship to the war.

Premier Reynaud's frantic appeal for greater assistance from this country, including a declaration of war, and President Roosevelt's reply have brought the war question to a head.

The President points out that only the congress can make a declaration of war, as though to remind M. Reynaud of the realities of government processes in the United States.

Marshal Petain, having succeeded Reynaud as premier, also is officially aware of the same thing—that the United States cannot go to war without a vote of the congress.

If some congressmen had been able to have their way, the United States could not go to war on foreign soil except by direct vote of the people themselves, reminder of a fear of congressional action which existed as recently as Jan. 10, 1938, when the Ludlow resolution calling for a plebiscite on war lacked only 21 votes to bring it to a vote.

Yet today it must be noted that Mr. Roosevelt's reminder of the way this country may declare war is interpreted as a tactful way of telling France and Great Britain that war is not going to be declared.

THIS country will continue to send war supplies abroad. Its sympathies will continue to belong to the Allies in their lopsided struggle against Germany's military power. America's hope will remain what it has been from the beginning—that Germany may be stopped short of the conquest it has undertaken. But the United States, in an hour which for the British and French is darker than any they faced during the World war, is not ready to declare war.

It is not the sense of the United States that a declaration of war would do any good. This country is not prepared to do anything more than it is doing and is planning to do. Whereas it can do these things with a clear conscience in the name of self-interest, hoping thereby to avert or at least to minimize what it fears may be a direct clash with Hitlerism ultimately, it could not undertake to send its own young men to Europe to fight.

It could not send them because the United States is not a military nation. Its people, particularly its women, are sick to death of the war system; they have believed for upward of 20 years that war's futility was revealed completely by the World war. They are in no mental state now to engage in another orgy of slaughter unless slaughter is forced upon them.

THEY realize—or most of them do now—that if Germany wins, the United States in order to survive in a world which then would be dominated by force would have to become a military nation. They are agreed that steps should be taken without delay and at enormous expense to make sure their country will be prepared to give the best possible account of itself if Germany should win. They are ready to go to war for protection of their interests in the new world but they are not prepared to make a decision which would send United States soldiers to the old world.

While tortured brains in this country may insist on believing that the United States is responsible for the war because it did not make war impossible (an opium dream if there ever was one) the ordinary run of Americans, including the ones who sit in congress, know America had no part in starting the holocaust. True, this country reviled Hitler when the British were experimenting with appeasement. But it wasn't our unkind cuts that made him launch his plan of conquest. He wrote "Mein Kampf" long before he read "On The Record" by Dorothy Thompson.

It is still Europe's war, even though the United States is acutely aware there would be unpleasant repercussions of German triumph in the new world. Some of the repercussions are hammering at this nation already—the costly preparedness program, the prospect of compulsory military training, the excitement, the destruction of the national sense of security, the dreary prospect of creating a war economy, the dread of worldwide economic chaos which will result from exhaustion of wealth and morale.

NO ONE can say Americans are refusing to face reality. They are aghast at the shape it has taken, so horrible that reality seems more like a nightmare than a view of civilization in 1940 A. D.

War eventually may wrap its tentacles around this country and pull it into the vortex of violent death. We are preparing to give a good account of ourselves if that happens; we will not go looking for it, however.

We must load the empty guns Col. Lindbergh speaks of and get more. We must be prepared to fight if fighting becomes imperative. That will be when Europe's latest war, which threatens some day to become America's war, too, actually does become America's war. It is not our war yet. Congress knows that. President Roosevelt knows that congress knows it.

White House Is Aroused by Complaint of Encroachment Against Defense Board.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 19—The cabinet room of the White House rang with sharp irritated words from the lips of the always soft-spoken President Roosevelt the other day.

Both his voice and his ire were raised in the presence of the entire cabinet against an official prominent in the reform group who sought to enlist the President's aid against "encroachment" of the Knudsen - Stettinius defense commission in his department.

Paul Mallon

Instead Commissioner Edward R. Stettinius had employed an expert who was dealing so constantly with one of the government bureaus that the bureau chief invited him to take a desk in the office in order to facilitate both his work and theirs. Stettinius called the top official in charge of the department an dasked his permission. The official replied he would need a few days for investigation, and then complained to the President that Stettinius was trying to pry into his department. The President immediately made it clear he wanted no obstacles placed in the path of the defense group, even by his best friends.

Naturally, none of the participants is talking, but the story has gotten around far enough in the top stratum of the government to warrant the conclusion that the defense commission is not going to run into any interference from the reform element.

Hitler Schedule

Official phones from abroad have reported Hitler's plan was to finish the French by the end of this month, then to start after the British the latter part of the first week in July. His preparations were made with that schedule in view. There is no authoritative information on the possibility that the schedule may now be moved up.

Hitler's plans, all of which have been successful so far, contemplate occupation of Britain six weeks after the inauguration of the attack, although the British may have something to say about that.

Why France Fell

Petain and the French leaders have publicly ascribed their defeat to "overwhelming numerical superiority," but this reason has gained no wide appeal with officialdom here.

A certain senate leader says privately he saw the defeat coming two years ago when, on a trip abroad, he observed the French working six hours a day on a five day week, while the Germans were struggling 12 hours at their various enterprises.

All military explanations boil down into a single one—they could not stop the tanks. Weygand's depth defenses, the unwieldy 75's, and anti-aircraft guns were just not enough to hold up the heavily armored German tanks.

This means that no efficient way has yet been discovered to stop this method of warfare, although our officials who are working on the problem, are beginning to see the answer. An article by Major James Randolph, ordnance reserve, in the Cavalry Journal for March, details many new tricks to destroy the windshield and periscope vision of tank operators, the digging of pits to trap them alive like elephants, etc. The general military view, however, is that the best defense would be superiority in the air and the creation of higher calibred anti-tank guns on anti-aircraft principles in such quantities that several could be assigned to each vulnerable community.

Quantity Counts

The war department and defense commission came swiftly to their first major unannounced conclusion, namely that quality would have to be sacrificed for quantity in defense production.

Striving for the best in every line, the army has hitherto thought it necessary to use trucks with eight speeds forward and two speeds backward in order to move troops swiftly. Also they have been buying yearly new model tanks and autos to the point where the problem of supplying spare parts has impeded efficiency.

Hitler took the opposite line. His 105 M.M. Howitzers have no complicated recoil mechanism and are inferior to the French 155's, but he stamped them out in such great quantities as to literally overwhelm the better French guns.

Gratification

Many a prominent Democratic senator whose name would be familiar to you expressed gratification in the cloakroom when the French Premier Reynaud cornered Mr. Roosevelt into a declaration that war commitments would have to be made by congress. Several loyal supporters of the White House have long had a hunch Mr. Roosevelt might be leading up wittingly or unwittingly to a premature step in that direction.

Thunderbolts of Tyranny

From Editor & Publisher.

MONTHS have moved like weeks and weeks like hours since that tragic September night in 1938 when democracy bowed to brute force and wrote "30" on the history of Czechoslovakia. Prague then seemed far from London to Neville Chamberlain and to millions around the world who preferred even a fictional peace to the terrors of modern war. Every day that passed without the clash of armed forces seemed to nourish the hope that human intelligence would find some means of avoiding another journey down the road to Gethsemane. Those days passed quickly, far too quickly, for Europe's democracies to prepare themselves against the thunderbolts of tyranny.

Time was believed to be the ally of the democratic powers, distance the friend of America. As late as six weeks ago the prevailing attitude in most of the United States was that Europe's war was none of our business. The majority of the American people and of their representatives in congress were certain that whatever material help our fields and factories gave the Allied cause, there would be no active military part for the United States.

Within six weeks we have moved far from that conviction. The change has been accompanied by some hysteria. The inability of France and Britain to withstand the initial shock of the German legions has shocked us out of complacency. The guarded hints from White House and army sources that the lands of the south of us may house Fascist "Trojan horses" have been discounted in some quarters. And in that connection, it should be recalled that the administration's prescience on European events during the past two years has been much more accurate than that of its critics. Its warnings are more kindly received now than in the past.

AN INDEX of the shift in American sentiment is in the reception given newspaper proposals for universal and compulsory military service. A month ago not even The New York Times could have advocated that step without drawing fire from almost all sections of American life. Today, it is no longer a quest on of argument by name calling. Military training can no longer be dismissed as jingoistic or war mongering. It is recognized as a logical, even vital, step for a great and rich nation, practically unarmed in a world where the principles of banditry are largely ruling. This nation hates war no less than it did a month ago, but in that month it has learned that hating war doesn't keep war away from the borders. It has also learned that time-worn methods, administered by blundering amateurs, are suicidal against a trained and ruthless foe. But haste need not be waste.

Remote as is the probability of an armed totalitarian invasion of this hemisphere, it is scarcely more remote than the conquest of Norway and Denmark seemed on April 1, scarcely harder to believe than the fact that within three weeks the German machine has actually driven two Allied armies into the sea. We live in a world which gives not even lip service to old concepts of personal and national honor, which makes treaties only to break them with a stab in the dark. If this world is ever again to accept the code which the United States still holds in high esteem, it will be because the holders of that code were able to preserve themselves from extinction by a philosophy which rests on brutality and deception.

THERE is no point, however, in further calling of names. Democracy is on the defensive around the world. If it is to survive, even in this country, it will do so by demonstrating that it is both a more pleasant and more generally effective way of life than that afforded by dictatorship. The proof will have to be made not only at home, but probably to several of our good neighbors in the western hemisphere. Talk won't do that job. Hysteria won't do it. Hate won't do it. Cartoons of dripping knives and bloody skulls won't do it. Work guided by brains, is the only answer.

All of the democracies, the United States included, have wasted too many years in despising totalitarian governments for their dastardly persecution of religious groups. That business, it now appears, accomplished its object—the concealment of preparations for the most aggressive war that the world has seen since Gustavus Adolphus and Wallenstein. Let America be fooled no longer. The only answer that the dictators respect is the proof that democracy is not a doormat, that it can coordinate its strength and is resources as efficiently as any dictator, that new offensive weapons and tactics can evoke from the military and political brains of democracy equally terrible and effective defenses.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, June 19, 1930.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, conqueror of the South pole, arrived in New York City after nearly two years of exploration "at the bottom of the world" and was given a welcome ovation by the city's millions.

Announcement was made that Edward H. Fetter, captain at fire station No. 1, would retire on a pension July 1 after 30 years of service in the department.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baldauf of South Vine street and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dickason of Avondale avenue.

Mrs. Frederick C. Smith and sons Frederick and Phillip of East Center street and nephew, Fred Thacker, left for Indian River, Mich., for a stay of several weeks.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Saturday, June 19, 1920.

Announcement was made in Washington at the headquarters of Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for the presidency, that he would be ready to meet President Wilson as the Democratic contender for the election to the presidency on the league of nations issue or any other platform that the Democrats might put forth. This announcement was made after reports were heard that President Wilson might enter the field for a third term.

The senator announced he had dropped plans for a brief vacation preceding the campaign and instead would enter into the campaign after winding up his business in Washington. Conferences had been arranged for the following week with former Senator Beveridge of Indiana and Theodore Roosevelt Jr., representing the progressive wing of the Republican party. One of his conferences today was with Alexander Moore, Pittsburgh newspaper publisher.

In Marion, badges were being prepared for members of the reception and entertainment committees to serve during the campaign. A committee made up of Josiah Bindley, chairman, George T. Geran and F. B. Morrison was named to arrange for furnishing the offices of the Marion Civic association. It was announced that representatives of all railroads entering Marion would be here Monday to meet the executive committee of the Civic association and dispose of all transportation questions.

Arrangements for a meeting of both men's and women's Harding for President clubs of Marion and Marion county to ratify the action of the Republican national convention in nominating Senator Harding for president were made by the executive committee of the women's club held at the home of Mrs. H. B. Hane on East Church street. Mrs. C. E. Sawyer, president of the organization, said all Harding clubs in Ohio were arranging for similar meetings. It was announced that the women's organization had a membership of 1,820 and that this was expected to increase to 2,000 by the time Senator Harding returned to Marion. The men's organization was considering forming a marching club and a representative, Chester C. Roberts, requested that the women cooperate in this program. A marching committee consisting of Mrs. W. T. Jones, Mrs. J. F. Dombaugh and Miss Alice Hane was appointed by Mrs. Sawyer. The women planned to meet the train when Senator and Mrs. Harding returned home and march, all dressed in white, and the men expected to march, dressed in white duck trousers, blue coats and white caps.

Miss Alice Hane was named chairman of the emergency service committee to provide an emergency canteen service should crowds of visitors during the summer become too large for hotels, restaurants and other eating places to accommodate.

On The Record

Weaknesses That Developed in Democracies Believed To Have Been of Help to Hitler.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

FOR many generations the governments of free peoples, the democracies, have enjoyed the dominance of Western civilization and have had the power to determine the destiny of the world. Now they have suffered the worst disaster in their history. Their very survival is threatened.

Their disaster involves us. It involves us for reasons which Mr. Lippmann set forth with admirable lucidity. We should face that fact with complete clarity in order that out of today's defeat we may draw tomorrow's strength and wisdom.

Dorothy Thompson

There are simple, realistic reasons why Hitler has so far won this war. We must understand those reasons and look at ourselves in the light of those reasons.

His observations regarding the internal weakness of democratic societies — observations which formed the basis for his conquest of Germany itself, by the Nazi revolution.

The democratic ideal, which started as a noble and heroic conception, as an attempt to liberate human beings, and offer them the opportunity to develop and perfect themselves and thus grow from individuals into persons, has degenerated away from the idea of self-perfection through effort, away from the idea of equal and cooperative endeavor, into the idea of self-interest. The pursuit of happiness, which is vain except as it represents an accrual of joy through creative action, has become the pursuit of pleasure.

The concept that the laborer is worthy of his hire has been supplanted by the idea that work is a commodity, to be bargained for and sold at the highest price that can be extorted, regardless of the product. And the same is true of capitual, whose creative function has become secondary to its safety. Capital—the accumulated savings upon which new creative activity can be based—has also come to be treated like a commodity, whose worth and use depends upon the market.

Weaknesses in Education

Higher education has been divorced from the idea of training the whole man, into the production of experts, who, possessed of immense amounts of specialized knowledge, are without the sense with which they were born. Secondary education has devoted itself to training youth by words rather than by action. It is literary and divorced from life, which is reality. Every June our high schools and colleges turn out youngsters who are completely unfitted for the realities of the world into which they emerge. An age that needs mechanics, technicians, skilled workers, men whose hands and brains have been coordinated to a unified efficiency, is flooded with young people who cannot read a slide rule or handle a screw-driver, let alone an exquisite machine.

A social snobbery which belies every democratic principle perpetuates the idea that a man who wears a white collar and adds up columns in a book, or a girl who types "Yours of the 10th received" is somehow of superior status to the driver of a steam locomotive or a first-rate cook.

We educate our children to come up in the world, instead of to live in it.

We belie our own democracy at every step. We classify people according to "success"—according to income—rather than achievement; or according to race, instead of according to quality.

Nothing is dearer to us than ourselves and the ideal of ourselves is comfort.

Hitler is destroying democracy by the sword, and by revolution, because democracy has already gone far on the road to self-destruction.

Ethel's Uncle Ben Comes Home from New Orleans in a Hurry To Shake a Lady Named Marie.

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp Writes From Brooklyn:

DEAR SIR: Last night when I got home from work I ses to my wife Ethel, hay Ethel, whats this I hear about your Uncle Ben being back? She ses yes Joe he has been back awhile. I trought I told you. I ses you know very well you never mentioned it to me Ethel and she ses didn't I Joe? Well I meant to but I guess I forgot. D.d you see him Joe?

I ses no but I just heard he is around. I ses I suppose you know he didn't go to war with that newspaper fellow like he was supposed to? She ses O yes I knew it Joe. They got on the wrong boat and it went to New Orleans instead of to the war, and my Uncle Ben got a job there and has been working until just a couple of weeks ago. Then he came home. He has been over to see me a couple of times already.

I ses you never mentioned that either and Ethel ses well Joe to tell you the truth I didn't think you would be interested. You never care very much about my Uncle Ben. I am afraid you do not understand him very good. I ses no I guess not. She ses I just wish you could hear him tell about New Orleans.

I ses if he liked it so well why didn't he stay there? She ses because he did not want to break a lady's heart Joe. My Uncle Ben is always a gentleman no matter what you think of him and if he had staid in New Orleans he would have had to break a lady's heart. Her name is Marie and she is beautiful. He ses he will miss New Orleans, especially something called fizzes. You make them with gin in them and they tickle your nose like soda water.

I SES yes I guess he will miss the gin fizzes all right if he was getting them for nothing and Ethel ses why do you know about them Joe? I never knew you had been in New Orleans. I ses Ethel you do not have to be in New Orleans to know about gin fizzes. I ses any bartender can make them and she ses even in Brooklyn? I ses yes even in Brooklyn and she ses O well then my Uncle Ben will be very happy when he finds that out. I ses don't you worry Ethel he knows it better than anyone else in Brooklyn.

She ses Marie is the lady who has the little hotel in New Orleans where my Uncle Ben lived Joe. She fell in love with him right away. It was pitiful the way she loved him Joe. I ses Ethel it is pitiful the way that old guy goes around thinking dames are always falling in love with him. I ses why don't he be his age? Ethel ses why Joe my Uncle Ben can't help it if they fall in love with him can he? Anyway Marie is as old as he is. She is a twice widow Joe but very beautiful. She wanted to marry my Uncle Ben.

I ses if she has a hotel it might have been a good idea for him to marry and settle down there and Ethel ses well it is a little note, and the service is not very good. She charged my Uncle Ben four dollars a week for a room and sometimes he could not get any hot water. Then when he was out of work for a few months and could not pay his room rent she locked him out door on him and told him he could not get in until he paid her or married her.

I SES wait a minute Ethel. I ses you told me he had been working in New Orleans until a couple of weeks ago when he came home. I ses now you ses he was out of work for a few months. I ses he has only been gone a few months so how long did he work? Ethel ses well I have forgotten just how long it was he ses he worked but it was not as long as he was out of work.

There is a great deal of unemployment nowadays Joe I ses yes and your Uncle Ben is most of it but how did he finally make out with that dame. Ethel ses why he told her he would let her know his decision the next day and she up locked the door and let him stay in his room that night, but my Uncle Ben got to thinking that it would break her heart if he told her he could not marry her or pay the room rent either. So early in the morning he left with a book maker he knows who was going back to New York in an automobile.

I ses see here Ethel your Uncle Ben is a deadbeat and a crook to run out on his room rent like that and that dame can put him in jail if she catches up with him. Ethel ses yes that is what my Uncle Ben ses the first day he came over to see me so he sent her the money right away. I ses O ho. I ses I am commencing to see something and Ethel ses yes Joe it was the $28 I was saving for my summer dress but don't get mad Joe because I am very fond of my Uncle Ben.

Yours Truly,

Joe Turp.

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT F. DODDS

Enroute home from a congressional session in Washington, Thomas Corwin stopped off for the night at the Burnet House, in Cincinnati. As usual he gathered about him a knot of listeners, then held forth on various topics throughout the night.

Corwin, Ohio's Whig governor from 1840-42 and U. S. senator from 1845-50, retold numerous amusing anecdotes with an extraordinary sense of the dramatic, wittily illustrating his droll stories.

The group of listeners grew as the hours passed, and dispersed only when the candles could be snuffed out because of the coming of dawn.

Corwin resigned his senatorial post in July, 1850, to become secretary of the treasury.

Joseph (Muscle) Medwick the big batter and leg man who was supposed to bring the Brooklyn Dodgers a pennant is in a hospital today and the question is whether he took the Dodgers championship chance with him

Medwick suffered a concussion of the brain yesterday when hit by one of Bob Bowman's pitches in the first inning of a game which the St Louis Cardinals won 7 5 in 11 innings He is expected to be out of the lineup at least three weeks

Head injuries are dangerous damaging Jake Powell of the Yankees was hurt just before the season ended and never has played a game although he is back with the club for some time

Loss of a player was valuable as Medwick is nothing less than heart breaking to a club in the heat of a pennant chase

The Dodgers defeat yesterday was the fourth straight Their plight might be worse except that their National league rivals seem to have chosen this exact time for an attack of the staggers

Bucky Walters who won nine games in a row at the start of the season was beaten for the fourth time in a row last night as the Phillies pounced upon the Cincinnati Reds 3-1

The third place New York Giants got a 6-1 going over by the Chicago Cubs in a starlight session in New York Jake Mooty Chicago's little freshman right hander held the Giants to six hits

The six-game winning streak of the Boston Red Sox finally was stopped at St Louis in a motion picture finish that starred John Berardino He came to bat in the tenth inning with the score tied and the bases loaded—and hit a home run for the Browns 11 to 7 triumph

Lefty Al Smith obtained his seventh victory against one defeat as the Cleveland Indians nosed out the Washington Senators 2-1

The New York Yankees were set back for the third straight time as the Chicago White Sox ended a five game losing streak of their own 6-3 behind the six-hit hurling of southpaw Ed Smith

CLEVELAND June 19—Pitcher Johnny Allen's three victories this season have been shutouts but if Cleveland Indians will be second if he duplicates Al Smith's feat when he takes the mound against the Washington Senators today

Smith the southpaw who found himself while with Buffalo of the International league last year grabbed a lot of glory with a 2 to 1 victory—his seventh against one loss this year—over the Nats last night

Smith limited the Senators to five hits in the thriller which saw Cleveland score the winning run in the ninth inning with two men out

It was a pitching duel all the way but the Indians collected 10 safe blows off Dutch Leonard for his sixth defeat The Tribes victory advanced it to a percentage tie with Detroit for second place and to within 1½ games of Chicago's Red Sox league leaders

Lou Boudreau who led the Indians with 3 singles drove in Cleveland's first run in the fourth for Roy Mack singled and scored on an infield out and a sacrifice

After Leonard had retired the first two men he faced in the ninth Roy Weatherly doubled and Rollie Hemsley singled for Cleveland's second run

Walter Masterson who humbled the Indians in their last series in Washington will oppose Allen loser of as many as he has won

Louis in Top Shape for Godoy Bat

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK June 19—Joe Louis a finely drawn and appears to be in a serious mood for his second fight with Arturo Godoy the durable Chilean at tomorrow night at Yankee stadium

The face of the big negro is expressionless and his conversation strictly limited to monosyllables but his stomach is as flat as he can make it and he has drawn to 200 pounds as per fighting weight

His final workout yesterday was furious and purposeful came as something of a shock to the crowd at Greenwood lake to see the champion knock Joe Godoy a harmless sparring partner down and out with a sudden burst of punches

Godoy under instructions had been jabbing and mussing Louis's face but when Joe looking for his chance let go with a right to the body Godoy dropped to one knee and took the count of nine Joe had looking this time Louis took a chance in their first encounter

The odds parlors still are 5 to 1 against Godoys chances of lifting the championship majority of observers believe will go the limit against Mike Jacobs was mopping up last-minute sale to boost up to $200 000

(Seventh in a Series)

If you wish to be a good diver, take lessons from a competent instructor. I myself do not pretend to be an expert diver, and my suggestions only on the most elementary dive, the standing dive from the edge of the pool or low board.

Stand on the edge of the pool, toes gripping the edge, feet together and hands behind you so as to give you momentum when your arms are swung forward, if you want a racing start. Otherwise, stand with the arms outstretched in front and with the head down and think of a forward somersault, as if you were simply going forward on a carpet. As there is only room to do approximately half a somersault before you hit the water, you go in head first without flattening-out in a painful "belly flop."

For springboard diving, first learn to keep balance by jumping up and down and testing the spring, with the knees stiff. The jump itself should be from both feet, the body held rigid while in the air, the hands together as they enter the water. Don't dive at all unless you're sure of the depth of the water.

NEW YORK, June 19 — Even Jack Donovan's best friends want to see how they can let him down when Louis - Godoy tomorrow night after that magazine story which Donovan picked Louis to win. Up to yesterday, Dodger fans had been nicked for an average 30 runners. Jack Dempsey and Mike Jacobs are supposed to have buried the hatchet, but one of the reports that first conference ever held in his new offices had to do with plans to bust the Garden boxing combine wide open.

By the way, did you see that picture of the Messrs. Hemsley, Feller and Keltner wearing baby caps? It was a pip. Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the old champ, is a neighbor of Joe Louis at Greenwood lake. CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

Consultation

WITH trepidation they went, both of their hearts pounding violently as they were escorted through the huge research institute to the temporary office of the famous Scotch surgeon. The doctor greeted them warmly, then took down in detail the history of Lance's case before proceeding to the examination. He looked anything but a world-famed surgeon, Jan thought, for Doctor Frederick Murray was a red-cheeked, round little man with a bald head and childlike, inquisitive eyes. She liked him at once.

As he examined with his rather stubby fingers the useless legs which appeared almost without flesh, he talked cheerily of this, his first visit to New York, and when Jan confessed it was also her first visit, he asked her what she thought of the large metropolis.

"I scarcely know, yet," she smiled. "We aren't acquainted with anyone here; consequently I've been nowhere. I suppose I should get on one of those huge sightseeing busses and see everything from Grant's Tomb to the Empire State."

"That," agreed Doctor Murray, "is a sensible idea. Like to do it myself if I could escape the entourage I've been assigned to keep me from having any fun in New York."

Lance, quiescent, suffered the doctor's kneading, probing fingers.

"I must have X-rays," said Doctor Murray.

A little after the noon hour, while Lance was still in the X-ray laboratory, the doctor suggested to Jan that just the two of them slip out for lunch. They happened into a cozy tearoom, chintzed and flowered to proper atmosphere, and found to the doctor's delight real English crumpets.

Jan felt bursting with questions, but managed to keep silent, hoping the doctor would say something. He did, his gray eyes twinkling when the meal was finished and he puffed leisurely on an excellent and aromatic cigar. He offered Jan a cigaret, and she refused, saying, "I've just never found time."

"Good. Too many young women nowadays dissipate their health and looks with too many cocktails and cigarets."

"Even in Scotland?" she smiled.

"Even in Ethiopia, I'm told." He continued more soberly, "I can't tell you much about your brother's case until I've seen the X-Ray pictures. This Sobol boy, the one whose father sent you to me, came into my hands just a short while after his accident. Your brother—two years is a long while. Truthfully, I'm not too hopeful. You aren't pinning too much faith on me, are you, Miss Merruner? I'm not infallible, you know. However, my superficial diagnosis may be contradicted by the pictures. We shall soon see."

"We—we have some money," she hesitated, "not a great deal. Could you give me some idea—if you operate?"

"Now, now," he chided. "Don't you worry. I'm the Robin Hood of the medical profession. Come along, child."

While waiting in an outer office later that afternoon, Jan picked up one of the New York early evening papers and glanced through it, astounded at the long theater listings. She decided Lance could be left alone for a couple of hours one evening while she went to the newest, most-raved-about play, whatever it was. In trying to find out, she ran across another item which reached out and clutched at her with almost physical grasp.

It said, her mind gasped, that Derek Carter Knowles a new discovery in the world of music, was to be guest artist with the New York symphony orchestra tonight in Carnegie Hall, where his own, recently finished Concerto in D Minor, would be heard for the first time.

"Derek!" she cried out loud, startled. "Oh, Derek, you've done it!"

The amused and curious glances of other people in the office made her aware of where she was. She colored with embarrassment, having no idea how beautifully and divinely happy she appeared to them, so slim so sweet and absurdly young in her pretty blue suit and perky hat.

Sold Out

With one thought in mind, to obtain a ticket to the concert as soon as possible, she solicited the help of the receptionist who called a ticket agency only to learn every seat in the Hall was sold out.

She was almost in tears when Doctor Murray sent for her. "Why, what is it, child?" he asked when she entered his surgery.

"I—there's a concert—I must get a ticket," she stammered. "Oh, I've been hoping and hoping, I'd find him and now I have I—can't even hear him."

"Well, now, if that's all, we should be able to arrange it," he soothed. "Where is the concert and who is he?"

She told him, adding, "Mr. Knowles is a friend of mine and I must hear him! I didn't know or I wouldn't have waited until the last second."

The doctor chuckled, a mischievous gleam crinkling his eyes. "Would you consider me a suitable escort? You see, I am obliged to attend this symphony. Truthfully speaking, I'm not much of a symphony fan, and I wasn't anticipating it, but since a friend of yours—it's a most formal and formidable party, my dear. One of the staff doctors, his wife and another couple have a box for the season."

Jan hesitated. "But won't it seem funny, I mean strange, if you take me? I mean—oh dear! I guess I don't care if you don't I want to go so terribly and it's so grand of you to ask me."

"Then it is settled. You will go with me, as my guest. However, I will spare you the dinner and call for you at your hotel about eight. Now about your brother."

Jan thought guiltily that she had forgotten Lance, so excited had she become over Derek's concert, over the prospect of seeing that red head and arrogant face once again. "My brother," she prompted, concern darkening her wide eyes. "Is it good or bad news, Doctor Murray?"

"Fair," he said cautiously. "I'm having him moved into the hospital right away and I'm scheduling the operation for day after tomorrow."

"Then you are going to operate! That means there is a chance?"

He nodded. "A chance. You may visit him tomorrow afternoon for a short while, but the remainder of the time I want him to have absolute rest and quiet. There is absolutely nothing you can do until after the operation and worrying and fretting won't help either of you, so go in now and see him a few moments, then expect me at your hotel about eight or eight-thirty this evening."

Jan suddenly remembered she had no evening dress. Ruth had suggested buying one, but she'd been so sure she wouldn't need it. There would be time, now, to select one and it would be a grand adventure to buy a formal dress in a New York shop.

Would she see Derek tonight after the concert? Would he grin at her and say "Hello, Puss?"

Although it was middle September the evening was warm, even a little sultry, and the sidewalks were thronged with people wanting to be out of doors. At eight o'clock Jan descended to the hotel lobby to wait for Doctor Murray, unable to remain longer in her room.

"Now I know what it means to be 'all a-twitter'," she thought, settling very primly on a rose velvet chair. "Right now I'm the twitteriest, titteriest female in New York City!"

Her imagination again had been working overtime and she pictured herself calm and friendly and delightfully sophisticated greeting Derek and saying, "You were just too marvelous, Mr. Knowles! Such a privilege to hear you." And he would look at her and for a moment wouldn't know her because she looked so grown-up with her yellow hair brushed severely back from her forehead and piled high in ringlets atop her head, with her small oval face delicately made up, and in her beautiful velvet cloak and pleated skirted crepe evening gown with fragile sandals to match. Then while he held her hands and looked deeply into her eyes he would remember her and tell her she was lovely and ask her to dine with him at the Waldorf and cruise to Valhalla, or was it Elysium?—anyhow, to a very private heaven on his palatial yacht.

She would not permit herself to think of him as Derek Knowles, the immensely wealthy man of the world—no, he was just Derek, a lonely, frustrated boy whom she had helped and who had at last won triumph. Too, he must tell her what she wanted to hear so much, that she had left her and never written because he wanted first to win success.

"Ah, paradise!" she checked herself. "If he has a great triumph tonight, he will be surrounded by reporters, photographers, friends, music patrons and I probably won't be able to get near him. Maybe he won't care to be reminded that I once pulled him out of the ocean. Frank says people are seldom grateful for being saved from their own foolishness."

"Oh, Miss Merriner, here you are. All ready, I see."

It was Doctor Murray, looking as if he'd been forcibly stuffed into his tie and tails, his smiling, red-cheeked face bobbing at her in pleasure and admiration.

"I told them all about you and your concert," he said, taking her out to a long, sleek limousine at the curb. "Doctor Burlingham also knows this young composer friend of yours who is making his debut this evening."

Jan, entering the car, excited, eager with anticipation, warmed her eyes and the hearts of the staid, dourous people awaiting her.

"So you are a friend of young Derek Knowles," smiled Doctor Burlingham. "He's a fine young man, brilliant. I know his father well. Only last week Gregory Knowles lunched with me at the club and told me this son of his has lived at the piano day and night since returning from the Coast in June."

"Is his father at all like Derek?" Jan heard herself asking.

Hitler is winning the war because he has been fighting it with an industrial and engineering economy, while the democracies have been fighting it with a money, or financial economy, and fighting it stingily. We are now following Britain and France in our defense program.

The Germans did not vote themselves four billion money units for defense. They voted—had voted for them—thirty thousand airplanes, so and so many guns, so and so many thousands tons of reserves of oil and raw materials. The German economy is an economy of things and men; the Allied economy is an economy of symbols, money. The German economy recognizes that all wealth is in goods, particularly in capital goods, and that these are not created by money, which is only a medium of exchange, but by the application of labor to materials.

The Allies had money but failed to produce goods. The Germans had no money, but did produce them.

To recognize this is not to accept the myster race-domination, fanatical, Hitler-worshiping secular religion of Nazism. This economy was not designed by Hitler. Thorstein Veblen, an American, knew all about it; Henry George, an American, knew a great deal about it. As far as Germany is concerned, the man who first saw and practiced the facts about an industrial and engineering economy was Walter Rathenau, the coordinator of the German economy during the last war, and he was a Jew whom the Nazis murdered. The Germans were forced into it, because they had a will to conquest and no money. But the lack of money proved to be a God-send to them.
